

AI is a Skill, Not Software

Outcomes depend on the operator's fluency, not the tool.

It is not the software that varies - it is the operator.

A trained user constrains the AI and gets value. An untrained one gets confident nonsense from the very same tool.

To justify training, and reset 'a licence equals results'.

Want this working in your team?

Book a Focus Call

humanspark.ai/call